

1. Floral Dress Series

A long, green-and-white floral dress is showcased on multiple AI-generated models, each in a different environment and pose. Existing commercial solutions struggle to maintain character consistency and realistic styling. My solution uses custom Open source workflows that ensures the same product and model identity across the series.

