

Victorian Interior Styling

A photograph of an empty room is gradually furnished in Victorian style. Each item – chairs, lamps, tables – is generated from a single product image and integrated into the scene with correct perspective, lighting, and material rendering. To achieve this I have an AI-workflow for transforming a simple product image to a 3D-model.

